Courtney Findlay : Natural Soap Making: it's so easy, fun and 100% natural! before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Natural Soap Making: it's so easy, fun and 100% natural!:

0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Not worth the moneyBy Charleston MomSave your money. This book lacks so much Visual detail for someone who is new to soap making. If you are a visual learner this book is not for you. A waste of money and my time. The very few pictures that are provided are so small. It did have some good information on colorants, essential oils etc... but overall lacked details to keep my attention.

About the Author Courtney Findlay is a professional Soapmaker, having had her own successful soap shop where over 145,000 bars of aromatic soap and other bath products were created, wholesaled and retailed, all from the store's premises. As well as creating up to 45 varieties of soap, Courtney also made lotions, therapeutic creams, bath oils, mineral bath salts, perfume oils, solid perfumes, body butters, lip balms, massage melts, and essential oil blends. This relaxing atmosphere was only increased with the addition of the works of local artisans, from handmade paper to wooden toys, and always set aside store space for charities and other fundraising events, as well as donating soap 'ends' to the local Food Bank and Youth Center. Over the years, Courtney received several nominations from the Chamber of Commerce, including Entrepreneur of the Year, New Business of the Year and Best Customer Service. Because of the interest in natural products and the soap shop, invitations to speak at events were received and soap and lotion classes were taught. Courtney is also a writer and writes about all things soap at www.natural-soap-making.com.
